Parker River National Wildlife Refuge, Newbury, MA

A Day at the Beach!

Some of our most intriguing ecosystems are to be found on, or along, the coast. This workshop will give you an opportunity to explore outdoor activities and learn outdoor skills in a saltwater environment.

Choose four workshops (1 morning, 1 afternoon and 1 alternate for each session). Materials and instruction included.

Cost is $50 • Space is limited • Registration required by September 1, 2004

Presented by: MassWildlife and the
Parker River NWR, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service

Limited scholarship assistance available.

A Day at the Beach!

Workshops

MORNING: (Please indicate First and Second Choices)

Birding — Check out a variety of waterfowl, shorebirds and marsh birds and find out why birders and wildlife artists consider beaches and coastal marshes the best “destination sites.”

Sea Kayaking — Experience Parker River National Wildlife Refuge from a whole new perspective as you paddle through the creeks of Plum Island Sound under the guidance of U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service staff.

Surf Fishing (ocean) — Fish for the big ones casting across the waves. Striped bass and bluefish should be running.

AFTERNOON: (Please indicate First and Second Choices)

Tidepool / Beach Ecology — Explore a new world teeming with fascinating animals with Dr. Peter Burn of Suffolk University and learn how the parts of barrier island ecosystem interact.

Clamming — It's a New England tradition! Learn about the different (and delightfully edible) shellfish that live under our beaches and collect a few for a late afternoon snack.

Surf Fishing (estuary) — A repeat of the morning session in a different environment. Same fish, different water dynamics means new skills to learn and master.

Participants with a physical disability, please advise us of your needs at the time of registration so that we can enhance accessibility.
